Oregon Fire Victims Camp Out

Forced to flee when forest fires swept their Wilson River, Ore., homes, these three youngsters (l. to r.), Joan Spurrier, 11; Ruby Gambles, 2, and David Dober, 2, set up house-keeping in a tent. The youngsters brought along musical instruments to while away their time. Meanwhile, thousands of acres of woodland and homes are being destroyed by the spreading flames.

11 More Jap Ships Sunk By U. S. Subs

WASH. (AP)—July 21 (AP)—United States submarines have sunk 11 more enemy vessels, including four combat ships in far eastern waters, the Navy announced today.

The combat ships included two minesweepers and two patrol, escort vessels.

Non-combat craft in the latest toll included a large cargo transport, a medium transport, three small merchant vessels, a small freighter, and a medium freighter.

The announcement raised to 1174 the total Jap vessels of all types which have fallen prey to United States submarines since the start of the war.

Britain Can't Lift Suez Canal Tolls

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—A British foreign office spokesman declared today it "is not within our power" to waive Suez canal tolls on American ships carrying soldiers and equipment to the Pacific war theater even though Britain does not pay a similar fee for passage of her troops through the Panama canal.

(Suez tolls since the start of the war until Jan. 1 cost the United States $11,245,390.)

The British spokesman said Britain paid tolls on all its own shipping passing through the corporation owned Suez canal.

Bridges Urges U. S. Cite Terms

CONCORD, N. H., July 21 (AP)—U. S. Senator Styles Bridges (R.), urged today the Administration define the terms of unconditional surrender for Japan.

At the same time he expressed the view that this country should retain strategic Pacific islands which have been taken at a huge cost of lives and material.

king reported "considerable casualties" were inflicted in frontal engagements with Japanese withdrawing southward from Amoy toward Swatow. Other Chinese harried the flanks of the retreating Nipponese.

The Mikado's troops apparently reopened an escape route from Kweilin, former U. S. air base in southeast China. But the Chinese claimed they had beaten back counter-attacks on three columns closing in on Kweilin. The engagements were fought 11 miles northwest, 25 miles west and 41 miles northeast of the former U. S. air base.

Allied air forces, ruling the skies from the Solomons to Tokyo, struck with increasing fury. Jap propagandists complained attacks were "so complicated they cannot be anticipated" and conceded they were having a "surprisingly strong" psychological effect on the Japanese people.

More than 200 Liberator, Mitchell and Invader bombers with fighter escorts bombed and strafed five air fields and the waterfront around Shanghai in the heaviest attacks reported to date. They met no opposition and left "many large fires" and bombed runway as they flew back to Okinawa.

Mustang fighters sweeping in from both Okinawa and Iwo Jima delivered the strongest announced blow yesterday against Honshu, main island of Japan. Eighty Mustangs from two raked five air fields and factories in the Nagoya-Osaka area, and were followed up by 94 more from Okinawa.

Other Mustangs from Okinawa had a field day tearing up railway traffic stalled by blockaded tunnels at Kagoshima, major industrial city in south Japan. Liberators and Thunderbolts made assorted strikes against Kyushu, Honshu and island approaches.

Altogether, American gunners and bombardiers accounted for 23 Jap planes and 13 surface craft, including one sizable freighter.

Other battlefronts were quietest. Australian consolidated newly won positions in southeast Borneo's Sambodia oil fields. Tokyo claimed a "bloody battle" was on between Australians and Japs cornered near Wewak in the New Guinea mop-up campaign.

Men of 86th Division Leave Devens Sunday

More than 900 New England officers and men of the 86th (Blackhawk) Division, first to be re-deployed from Europe, are scheduled to leave Ft. Devens tomorrow for Camp Gruber, Okla., where they will train for eight weeks before moving to the Pacific war area.

Brig. Gen. William C. Crane, commanding general at the Ft., urged the public not to try to contact or visit the men.

New Suicide Weapon for Japs

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21 (AP)—The Japs declared today they had invented a new secret weapon "in every sense of the word" which functioned best if used by "special attack" suicide operatives.

At reported by Domei agency in a broadcast heard by the Federal Communications Commission, Jap scientists "were dubious that it would be efficient unless it was linked with the 'special attack' spirit."

The new weapon, said Domei, was unlike anything that appeared in Europe and would be

Truman Carried Peace Terms to Potsdam, Belief

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Army and Navy Journal said today that President Truman carried to the Big Three conference a draft of Japanese surrender terms as favored by the State, War and Navy Departments.

These terms, the unofficial service publication said, call for the total loss to Japan of what remains of her fleet and airforce, as well as for other military disarmament; loss of territory outside the home islands; destruction of her war industries; complete control over her economy by the United Nations and surrender of designated war criminals.

The Journal said that interest in the Potsdam conference centered around the question of whether Emperor Hirohito will be declared a war criminal and punished accordingly.

German Youths List Date Girls

HERFORD, Germany, July 21 (AP)—German youths have begun going on "traior patrols" in various towns in the British occupation zone, taking names of all German girls they see with Allied troops.

An Allied officer said: "I have seen gangs of these young Germans, armed with notebooks and pencils, going along river banks spying on German girls. I saw one German girl being kicked and slapped after she had left her British soldier friend."

Senate Clears Way For World Food Plan

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Senate today passed by voice vote and sent to the White House legislation authorizing American membership in the United Nations food and agriculture organization.

Final action came with overwhelming defeat of opposition based on fears expressed by Sen. Chapman Revercomb (R.) of West Virginia that the new world body might plan for international migration of farm labor.

Here's ALL the NEWS In Big 3 Conference

POTSDAM, July 21 (AP)—The American delegation to the Big Three Conference said today "the work of the conference is going ahead and much serious business has been done." There was no elaboration on the subjects under discussion.

This statement came amid reports both President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill were anxious to speed the deliberations.

Truman conferred today with Adm. Land, chairman of the U. S. Maritime Commission. Lt. Gen. Clay, Gen. Eisenhower's deputy in Germany, had dinner with the President.

Tomorrow Mr. Truman presumably will attend church services as usual.

The President's party was entertained again by Sgt. Eugene List, pianist, and Pvt. Stuart Cann, violinist, both of New York City.

Prime Minister Churchill took time out from the deliberations and reviewed in Berlin's Tiergarten the Seventh Armored Division, the "Desert Rats."

President Truman is eager to return to Washington soon, and is believed to be keeping discussions down to a minimum.

Red Troops Ring Berlin Area To Stamp Out Black Market

BERLIN, July 21 (INS)—Russian soldiers threw a guard around the entire area of Hitler's chancellery in Berlin today to aid Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, U. S. commander in the German capital, bring a flagrant black market under control.

The region had been a mecca for soldier tourists.

Russian soldiers have been unable to spend half their pay. Some of them have been pooling their money by companies and dumping it in a barrel in the barracks.

Each soldier, as he needed money, would go to the barrel and pick up a handful of occupation marks. German civilians likewise were flush with money but there were no goods to be bought.

Stop watches, selling for $30 in the United States, have been bringing the equivalent of $500 in the black market. A pound of coffee can be had for around $1000 but a pound of tea costs $3000.

A stick of chewing gum sells for $1 and cigars are $18 a pack on the black market.

Windsor to Visit London Alone

LONDON, July 21 (INS)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were said today to be expected in France very soon.

So far, 39 pieces of luggage have arrived in London for the Windsors. Although the former King Edward VIII has reservations at a West End hotel, his American-born duchess is not expected to accompany him to Britain.

Informed circles said the duke is anxious to serve his country in any post commensurate with his status. It is still undecided which governor generalship will be offered him.

Gulf Storm Heads Inland

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (AP)—Stationary for many hours, a tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico is again headed for the western Louisiana and upper Texas coast, due to move inland about noon.

Attended by winds of 35 to 45 miles an hour, the storm is small in area. The advisory said the center would hit in the Galveston, Tex., and Freeport, Tex., area.

The weather bureau said abnormally high tides would continue.

Bus Drivers Tie Up 7 Mass., R. I. Lines

Thousands of war workers and vacationists were stranded today, when service on all bus lines of the New England Transportation Co. in Massachusetts and Rhode Island was halted without warning as 135

Gardeners Hail Promise of Fair, Cooler Sunday

Everything ends if you wait long enough and today the weather bureau announced the week-long spell of steamy, cloudy weather was over and Sunday will be "fair and cooler."

The shift was credited to the arrival of a dry air mass from the north which shoved a stalled high pressure area southward where it belongs. With the shift came an east wind.

That dry, sunny weather prediction was just what the Victory gardeners needed, according to the New England Regional Crop Service.

Amateur farmers, along with the professionals, have been plagued with an overabundance of rain drivers reported out "sick." Especially hard hit by the voluntary layoff was the Cape Cod area, where thousands of summer residents and vacationists found themselves without transportation.

Vacationists arriving at Hyannis by train were unable to continue since the Hyannis station is the last stop on the Cape. Buses ordinarily carry train passengers to Provincetown and intermediate points.

At the Boston terminal of the company in Park sq., scores of prospective patrons milled about as officials informed them that no buses were running.

Many boarded Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway buses to Fall River where they could shift to local lines operating to Providence.

Officials said service was affected on the following lines: Boston-Providence; Providence-Bristol; Providence-Fall River-New Bedford; Providence-Worcester-Framingham; Providence-Hyannis; Hyannis-Chatham; and Hyannis-Provincetown.

Buses for military personnel only were running between Camp Edwards and Providence.

Service between Providence and Hartford was not affected by the tieup, company officials said.

It was reported that from 80 to 90 buses were tied up by the unexpected strike, which virtually paralyzed the usually heavy week-end travel from Providence to Cape Cod and Rhode Island vacation resorts.

The bus company, a subsidiary of the New Haven railroad, transports approximately 10,000 passengers daily.

The drivers who reported sick are members of the Amalgamated Ass'n of Street & Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employees of America, affiliated with the A. F. of L.

In a statement announcing it expected service on all its lines in Massachusetts and Rhode Island would be halted today, the company blamed the tieup on the union's objection to the railway's hiring of additional bus drivers in Providence.

James E. Caulfield of Charlestown, president of Local 988, said no strike had been ordered, although he sympathized with the men.

"The main issue is overtime," Caulfield said. "I think the company is misrepresenting the drivers and seeking to put them in a false light. This is not the first time the company has sought to employ more men to beat the overtime."

Company officials reported that drivers started "booking off sick" shortly after midnight.

The company claimed 15 men were hired July 14 and thereafter and after they worked two or three days the union notified the company that "none of the 15 men would be admitted into the union."

Since the union contract provides for a 15-day probationary period for new drivers before they are required to join the union the company planned to use the 15 men during that period at least, the railway spokesman said.

Upon receipt of notice from the union on Friday that labor trouble would result if the men were continued as drivers, they were laid off, the statement continued.

Louis H. Palumbo, union business agent in Providence, said the company hired 40 men instead of 15. He said all but five were accepted into the union.

They were rejected, he said, because they felt it was unfair to hire those men for a few weeks, make them pay dues to the union and have them jobless in a short time."

He said the union offered to supply enough drivers to handle the vacation rush. The union's contract with the company requires that the line consult the union before hiring new drivers, he said.

The U. S. Conciliation Service assigned Commr. Charles R. Brinton to meet with union and company representatives in an effort to end the tieup.

Man Shot From Auto in Everett

With bullet wounds in his side and arm, a man identified by police as Clayton Pratt, 23, of Highland ave., Everett, walked into Wincken Memorial Hospital today and said he was shot while walking in Hancock st., Everett.

Under police questioning, he said he was shot from a passing auto. He refused to give any clue to identity of his assailants, police said.

Police said he was a parolee from Concord.

Search on Beach For Judy Geagan

Search for the body of 2-year-old Judy Geagan, who disappeared Tuesday from her parents' summer home in Marshfield, continued today with Coast Guard units, police and summer residents combing a four-mile stretch of beach.

A helicopter from Salem again joined in the search.

Mrs. William T. Geagan, the child's mother, was still confined to her summer home under a physician's care. Her husband continued to lead a party of searchers.

9 Neglected Children to State

Pending further investigation, the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. William McLaughlin of Main st., Charlestown were ordered turned over to State custody by Judge John Gilmore in Charlestown District Court today.

The children's parents were sentenced to a month in jail in Quincy District court yesterday after Judge James Mulhall heard a probation officer's report that they were neglectful of the children. The report stated the youngsters, whose ages range from 9 months to 14 years, ate from garbage pails. A previous suspended sentence was ordered revoked.

According to Charlestown police and officials of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Children a complaint of neglect of children will be brought against the parents in Charlestown court following their release from jail. The children were taken to the Charlestown court in a police car after spending the night at Charlestown St. Home. They were taken from their Main st. home yesterday.

The family recently moved to Charlestown from Randolph, where the parents were first arrested.

Crosses Atlantic To Hub Surgeons

Seventeen passengers, one of whom came to America because "the surgeons in Boston are the best in the world" arrived today aboard the American Export Ship Alexandria after a 20-day trip across the Atlantic from Egypt. Victor Toriel, of Alexandria, Egypt, whose high opinion of Boston surgeons brought him here, will remain 14 months for treatment.

Also aboard the transport were two women, Gail P. Gooding of Idaho, a missionary of the Pentecostal Ass'n, arriving after six years in the Belgian Congo, and Mrs. Marie Doughtie, home after 15 years overseas.

U. S. ART FOR SOVIETS
NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—One hundred and fifty leading American artists have contributed to a collection of painting and sculpture for presentation to the Soviet Union.

International News Service learned exclusively that Myron Taylor, the President's personal envoy to the Vatican, also was informed by the Pope of what the Holy Father hopes will form the basis of the new Europe being built.

The Pope ardently desires to see a peace settlement based on liberty and freedom of religion in the Balkans and central and southeast Europe, it was learned. A Vatican authority told INS that these ideas might be considered to be represented indirectly at the Potsdam meeting.

On the other hand, he flatly denied Russian charges that the Pope wanted direct participation in the peace conference. "As we have repeatedly indicated," he said, "the Vatican prefers to remain outside and above the infinite divergencies of all sorts rather than take an equal role at the peace table."

Referring to the Potsdam conference, he said that "in the preparatory period" the Holy See used its diplomatic corps, or "better still, its most trusted men" to make known the Vatican viewpoint regarding Poland, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Austria.

The Pope's permission to August Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland, to return to Warsaw was cited as evidence that the Vatican was not prejudiced against the new Polish provisional government, nor irrevocably tied up with the London regime.

"The Holy See does not intend to place political interests ahead of religious necessities," this Vatican spokesman said.

"It ardently desires that the Potsdam meeting will find a way whereby religious life can return to normalcy in all the above mentioned nations."

This prelate declared that the Vatican's first objective today was to dissipate Russian suspicions toward the Holy See.

"If Potsdam succeeds in thinning the dense and impenetrable veil cloaking the Soviets, then it will have accomplished an appreciable step toward profound world understanding," he said.

He concluded by saying that over and above his own diplomatic corps, the Pope has found any number of "ambassadors."

Chicago in Tears

Boy, Girl Make Up--Now City Cheers

CHICAGO, July 21 (INS)—Chicago, an old softy at heart, is shedding a salty tear or two over the estrangement between Corinne and Jerry—or Gerry. They spell it both ways—and hoping that love will find a way.

It began with an innocent little personal in a Chicago newspaper early this week, and by week's end, reader hearts were being broken.

The romantic misunderstanding of Corinne and Jerry brought other paid personals from tender-hearted readers, hoping cupid would heal the breach.

The whole thing started with an agony column message that said:

CORINNE—Please call me at home. You know the number. Don't care what you have said or done. I love you.

JERRY
Corinne came through with a speedy answer, and her personal read:

GERRY—Call me. You know the number. You were wrong, things happened; hard to say. I love you.

CORINNE
Ah, readers said, this young lady has a mind of her own. She loves Jerry or Gerry—but she isn't going to break down and make the first call. Your move, Jerry.

They hadn't long to wait. There was a prompt answer: CORINNE—I don't know phone number. Yes, I was wrong; whatever happened, I'm with you. Please call me.

JERRY
Next day, the answer: GERRY—Phone (she listed the number) between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. Will explain.

CORINNE
That same day one Corinne Jerry fan could contain himself no longer. Beneath Corinne's message was this one:

DEAR CORINNE AND JERRY
Please get together. You are breaking our hearts.

A READER.
Next day another message: DEAR CORINNE AND JERRY—I hope everything came out all right.

A READER.
Today there were no messages between Corinne and Jerry. Chicago hoped they had made up with a kiss.

JOSEPH EUGENE PAREMBA, 12; CPL. LEROY RITCHEY
Polish Stowaway and Intended Adopter Arrive in New York

New GI Stowaway Waits U. S. Adoption

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—A 12-year-old Polish stowaway, whose GI pals smuggled him aboard a troop transport in Le Havre, waited hopefully today for his friends to cut legal red tape so he can rejoin them ashore.

The little Pole, Joseph Eugene Parembo, had to stay aboard the transport Marine Panther after his "foster parents" of Battery C, 35th Field Artillery, Second Infantry Division, filed ashore yesterday at Camp Shanks.

Legal proceedings were reported in progress so he could enter the States as the adopted son of Cpl. Le Roy Ritchey, a former school teacher of Tulsa, Okla., and his wife.

Joseph had three other offers of adoption, and the troops had collected more than $1000 for him so he would not be classified a pauper under immigration laws.

Men of Battery C smuggled Joseph aboard ship in a duffel bag. "He was too good to leave behind," they said.

The troopship's skipper, Capt. James I. Walden, discovered the boy on the ship a day after it sailed, Joseph said.

"I knew I'd get caught, but the men convinced me I should go with them to America."

Troops said the boy fought with them for three and a half months after they liberated him in Germany after SS troopers had killed his parents. He lived in foxholes, and carried ammunition.

Joseph wore an ETO ribbon with a combat star and earned the battery insignia, a sharpshooter's medal.

Juryless Trial Sought For Sailor in Slaying

MIAMI, Fla., July 21—A jury-waived trial next week was requested today for William Wells Parker, 19, Navy seaman charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Ella Mae Eames, 42, former Brookline, Mass., socialite and estranged wife of Owen W. Eames, ex-Army chaplain.

Atty. Albert D. Hubbard, counsel for the sailor, announced that Mrs. Elaine Kalt, 18, daughter of the slain woman, would appear as a defense witness and testify about the conduct of her mother.

Hubbard said his client would plead self defense in the death of "a woman drinking companion more than twice his age."

The unclad body of Mrs. Eames was found in a Miami alley last Sunday, in the rear of the hotel in which the prosecution claims the couple had engaged in a beer bottle duel after the sailor had invited the woman to his room following a drinking bout at the hotel bar.

The defense counsel declared he would show that Mrs. Eames was the aggressor in the exchange of beer bottle blows that led to her death.

Before being subpoenaed to testify at the trial, Mrs. Kalt told the accused slayer of her mother: "I hope you get out of it all right."

During her visit to the jailed sailor, Mrs. Kalt further told him: "I feel awful coming to see you under these circumstances. Neither father nor I nor any of the other children could do anything with mother."

Parker maintains that he met Mrs. Eames at the hotel bar and, after several drinks, invited her to his room. During a quarrel that ensued, he said, she struck him with a beer bottle and he retaliated. When he found she was dead, he said, he removed her clothing and threw her body into the alley.

Meantime E. R. Parker, father of the sailor, who flew here from Toledo, O., to stand by his son, conferred with Atty. Hubbard and local police officials.

The hotel where the crime was committed has been declared out of bounds by Navy officials.

Army-Navy Union Meets

WORCESTER, July 21—National Com. Henry W. Gerber of Atlantic City, N. J., headed the delegation of national officers attending the Massachusetts Encampment, Army and Navy Union, USA, which convened here today and continues through tomorrow.

Highlights of the reunion are the banquet tonight and the military parade tomorrow afternoon.

TELL OF LAST HOURS—Lt. John F. Kinney (left) of Colfax, Wash., and Lt. John A. McAllister of Blue Mountain, Miss., at last are back in Washington, D. C., with a stirring story of the final days before the fall of Wake Island in 1942. They were taken to a prison camp in Shanghai but escaped more than two years later.

Read It Tomorrow

It began as a holiday from war and from the humdrum of a dusty, humid airbase in the Southwest Pacific. Twenty-four persons crowded into an Army transport for a sight-seeing trip to fabled Hidden Valley, New Guinea.

Minutes later the lives of all but five were wiped out in flaming tragedy. And two of those died shortly after.

In "Shangri-La Diary," WAC Cpl. Margaret Hastings tells of her miraculous escape from that terrible crash and of the incredible adventures that befell herself and two soldier companions in the 47 ensuing days.

"Shangri-La Diary" will be published exclusively in the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, beginning in tomorrow's Advertiser.

Wind Tunnel Houdini

A modern Don Quixote who was going to tilt with M. I. T.'s wind tunnel instead of a windmill ended up in the custody of startled Cambridge police who are still trying to figure how he got into the triple-ranked private guard system of the experimental laboratory. He was arrested for being tipsy.

The man, who said he came from Upton st., Boston, via Vermont, created a stir when his presence was discovered in the secret research department where super-hush-hush military experiments in aviation are conducted. He told police he was looking for a cool place to sleep.

Sgt. Thomas McAllister of the Cambridge police told him that he was standing near a little gadget that could whip up a 1000 MPH breeze that could easily chill him to the rigor mortis stage. The Upton st. man replied that it looked like a nice air-conditioned hotel as he passed along Massachusetts ave. on his search for a breeze.

Meanwhile Tech private guards were examining doors and windows and alarm systems and sweating over the mysterious way in which their tipsy visitor got through their secret barrier.

Sgt. McAllister took the man from Upton st. to the cooler. The wind-tunnel Houdini said he was 33 and in all his years he had never done it before.

Tech guards were anxious for a repeat performance of his entrance, but their guest said "a guy's liable to get knocked cold getting cool."

AMBITIOUS—Anne Jeffreys, who has been doing tough-gal screen roles, is about to see her long cherished hopes come true. She's to sing with the Hollywood Grand Opera Co. in September.

First Soldier in Draft Home From Battle

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 21 (AP)—Remember that historic day—Oct. 29, 1940—when Secretary of War Stimson drew that first number from the fishbowl—number 158?

Harry Robert Bell, now 26, held that number. He was in Washington buying furniture for the home he planned with his bride-to-be, Sally V. Carter, when the radio blared: "No. 158."

Instead of waiting for induction, Bell married Miss Carter and volunteered. Now, after four years and nine months in the Army, he's home, rejoining his wife and their 3-year-old son, and getting himself a ration book and some cool summer clothes.

"Now," he says, "we'll have a real honeymoon and start all over again."

Ex-Sgt. Bell fought on five battlefronts—Africa, Sicily, Italy, Southern France and Austria; he saw action in three D-Day invasions, and has a number of medals and seven Battle Stars.

The Bells will return to Washington, where Harry will take his old job with the Potomac Electric Power Co.

More Chests of Books Needed

The Boston Treasure Chest Committee urges Junior Victory Army boys and girls to continue their collection of good reading material for the children of devastated countries in Europe.

A book list may be obtained by writing to the committee's headquarters, 2 Park st., Boston.

The patriotic members should continue making the chests in which the books may be sent overseas.

The chests should be made from any strong wooden box with a lid, padlock and two keys. In order to hold 30 books they should be 16 inches in length, 12 inches in width and 12 inches deep.

Adding to interest of the children abroad, JVA members can provide scrapbooks containing pictures, drawings and information about this country.

When the chests are completed they should be shipped prepaid to Mrs. Ninon Tallon, Treasury Chest Campaign, Box Committee of the Women's Council for Post-War Europe, 366 Madison ave., New York City, N. Y.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I am a soldier's wife and would like to know when the 4th Armored Div. will be returning home? T. W. Newton.

A—Advance units of the 4th Armored have already arrived. Remainder of outfit has been ticketed for occupation duty, according to latest reports from Washington.

Q—How would I go about getting the address of a friend now overseas? A. B. Roxbury.

A—Such addresses are not given to persons other than relatives of servicemen.

Q—My husband has been missing in France over four months and a recent letter from Washington states that investigation has revealed no further information. I have heard that some unidentified wounded amnesia victims have been returned to the states for hospitalization. Is it possible to arrange an interview with such hospital to see if I could recognize any of these men as my husband? Would any information be given out by the hospital upon request? P. D. Lowell.

A—I realize you are taking advantage of every possible clue in the hope your husband might be located. I don't know where these hospitals are located, but if you write Adjutant General's Office, War Dept., Washington 25, D. C., attention of Casualty Branch, they might give information you seek. There are no soldiers here in this area, now being hospitalized that are unidentified.

Q—Could you please inform me when the remaining units of the Eighth Infantry are expected to return to the United States? My husband wrote and stated he was assigned for return. L. C. Quincy.

A—The latest information shows that the rest of 8th Inf. is scheduled to arrive in New York next week.

Q—My husband was killed in Germany and his personal effects are supposed to have been sent to Quartermaster Depot, Kansas City, Mo. Must I write to that office for them or will they be sent to me? D. C. Reading.

A—The personal effects which are recovered and identified are returned through the Army Effects Bureau, where they are inventoried, packaged and sent to the person designated as next of kin by serviceman.

Q—I have a son in the 35th Signal Corps Engineers. Could you tell me what division he is attached to? R. J. Framingham.

A—First Service Command unable to determine division.

Q—I haven't lived in the service for nearly five years, although I am his legal wife. Is it possible for me to apply for an allotment and where would I write? M. B. Waverly.

A—Suggest that you visit Personal Affairs Branch, First Service Command, 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston 15, Mass., or write for necessary application. According to your letter, entitled to $50 monthly.

CIO Wins by 1909 At Fore River

By a margin of 1909 votes in an election conducted by the NLRB, the CIO's Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America today became collective bargaining agent at the Bethlehem Quincy shipyard, to climax 11 years of effort.

Ousted as bargaining agent was the independent union. Official figures released by shipyard officials gave the CIO 726 votes to 537.

OLD SOUTH & MAJESTIC

A view of Harvard Square, Cambridge, in 1870

the year Haffenreffer & Co., Inc., was founded, Harvard Square in Cambridge was a sleepy junction point. At that time few realized that it was destined to become the hub of a great educational and industrial center.

IN 1945

three great institutions of higher learning in Cambridge have achieved world-wide fame. The land they now make use of covers many acres and the expansion in number of buildings required to serve the vastly increased student enrollment is astounding. Haffenreffer & Co., Inc., brewers of PICKWICK ALE, over the same period have shown a comparable growth to occupy an eminent position as one of America's great breweries.

Franco Installs New Cabinet

MADRID, July 21 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco administered the oath of office to his new cabinet today and the Falangist newspaper Arriba declared that the new government would continue the "Falangist ideal."

The newspaper's editorial said the long-expected cabinet shake-up, which placed in office five men considered monarchist sympathizers, was a "new step" in the life of the Franco's party, the only one in Spain. Franco said Tuesday Spain was entering a preparatory period for restoration of a king.

How Boston Finds Jobs, Solves Problems for Returning Veterans

The question of license and arrangements with the

Registry of Motor Vehicles were completed for a road test. Within a short time Breen was on the job as a cab driver, with the official okay of the

Hackney Bureau of the Police

Dept.

Director Wickes related that an average of 40 cases are handled daily and each day the number increases. Over 2000 veterans have been placed in jobs since

V-E Day, while others have received counsel in whatever problems they present. Jobs for which the applicant is best suited have been provided and the majority in accordance with his military training.

Associated with the Center are branches of the Red Cross, U. S.

Employment, Soldier's Aid Dept.

and vets' Administration. Located in the same building also is the office of the G.P.A.

Through the efforts of Mayor

Kerrigan and Director Wickes,

the G.P.A. revised regulations regarding issuance of ration books and shoe stamps to newly discharged veterans.

Prior to the new regulation it took several days before a veteran was able to purchase new shoes or obtain much needed ration books. Now the vet is issued his books immediately upon application. This may be accomplished right at the Veterans Center.

Most of the staff is composed of World War II veterans in addition to prominent physicians, psychiatrists and legal advisers.

American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American

Veterans and labor organizations have lauded the work of the Center.

Veterans of World War I have taken an active interest in rehabilitating their buddies of the present war, and the Suffolk

County Council of the American Legion, as well as other Legion groups throughout the state, have offered their help.

The veteran seeking a job has the finest of advice available. A group of job counseling experts includes professors from nearby colleges, high and preparatory school teachers and business men.

They are always ready to pitch in and help. Most veterans, away so long from a civilian world, are grateful for such aid.

There are great many servicers performed every day in the week. The veteran can get help in obtaining allotments, arranging financial aid, getting housing and other matters besides the all-important task of getting a highly nervous condition.

He didn't want to quit his job,

because of his big family, yet his work made his nervous condi-

REAL HELP FOR VETERANS

MANY FRIENDS of the men fighting and winning this war have suggested that a law be enacted permitting cities and towns to make gifts of land to these deserving citizens.

The suggestion is sound and sensible.

It is the best and most enduring kind of rehabilitation.

It is infinitely more practical than some of the politically-inspired bonus proposals which would accomplish little for the veterans at the risk of much harm to the State.

Throughout Massachusetts there are thousands of acres of land serving no useful purpose.

Much of it was seized as far back as 1920 for non-payment of taxes.

It is extremely unlikely that the former owners will ever redeem it.

Give this land in liberal parcels to the veterans.

Let them use it for the small homes they want to build.

With debt-free farm and residential property, all of them can take full advantage of the loan provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Real estate speculators should not be permitted to gobble up this land for sale to the veterans at inflated prices three or four years from now.

BETTER PENSIONS

EIGHT BILLS liberalizing the non-contributory retirement pensions of patrolmen, firemen and school teachers have been referred to the Municipal Affairs Committee of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

The consideration should be prompt and favorable.

Our pension systems are too confused and contradictory.

For example, a judge whose salary has been large and whose earning power was well above the average before his appointment to the bench, continues to draw his full pay after he retires.

But many Boston school teachers who rendered services equally as good and important get a scant $600 a year.

It is time we took pensions out of politics and gave every recipient a sufficient amount of money to live comfortably.

Certainly the school teachers, patrolmen, firemen and other municipal employees are entitled to as much attention from the lawmakers as persons receiving Old Age Assistance.

CRUSH IT!

THE OPA, predicting another meat-less week-end, again blames the profiteers and racketeers in the Black Market.

If that is supposed to console the families that sit down to empty tables, the wishful thinking gentlemen in the OPA are deluding themselves.

As a matter of fact, the Black Market should have been put out of business a year ago and all its operators adequately punished.

We have the necessary laws.

We have the proper enforcement agencies.

We have the courts, jails and prisons.

But, for some never-satisfactorily explained reason, little or nothing worth while has been done.

Police departments in all cities and towns should crack down on the Black Market, anywhere and everywhere.

If the men running the departments lack the required courage and ambition, they should be replaced by officials with more gunpowder.

Let executive positions go to the homecoming war veterans.

They have dealt effectively with the Germans and Japs.

And they will not have to be told how to deal with the equally obnoxious public enemies in the Black Market.

12—Boston American—July 21

"I HOPE (to see) a cordial fraternization among all the American nations and... their coalescing in an American system of policy totally independent of and unconnected with that of Europe. The day is not distant when we may formally require a meridian of partition through the ocean which separates the two hemispheres, on the hither side of which no European gun shall ever be heard, nor an American on the other... I hope no American patriot will ever lose sight of the essential policy of interdicting in the seas and territories of both Americas the ferocious and sanguinary contests of Europe.

"... Our first and fundamental maxim should be never to entangle ourselves in the broils of Europe. Our second, never to suffer Europe to intermeddle with cis-Atlantic affairs."

ARMY SERGEANT from Haverhill says a corporal from Arizona told him that during the summer it was possible to fry eggs on the sidewalks of Phoenix. The sergeant wants to know if this is really true. I believe it might be possible. I know for certain an egg was fried on the sidewalk in Palm Springs, Cal.

ADVICE: Eighty-one-year-old New York newspaperman William Leary, when asked for advice on attaining a healthy and happy old age, said: "Never sign or endorse a note. Be sure concerned with what you put in your stomach than in your pocket. Get eight hours sleep. Eat a substantial breakfast. Don't drink whisky without mixing water with it. Never contradict a red-haired woman. Avoid three-horse parades. Don't attend funerals."

SIDEGLITS: W. C. Fields says the hardest place in the country to put over comedy is Kansas City, Mo. I thought it was Wilmington, Del.

Mae Gray of New York City is suggested for membership in the M. N. I. A. P. Club.

Mae is described by the nominator as a "beautiful blonde." Maybe the M. N. I. A. P. Club should have an annual convention so the members could get acquainted.

Among the best of Nazi-movie's films was the one titled "My Son," in which she was supported by Jack Pickford and Constance Bennett.

HORSES & WOMEN: Lack of oxygen causes people to be grouchy. A few deep breaths will often return a grouchy person to a cheerful mood. So states a man of science. Therefore, if your wife is grouchy at breakfast just take her gently by the ear, lead her to an open window and make her take six deep breaths. Tantrums or an angry mood can be cured by throwing cold water in the face of the offender, says another man of science. Keep that in mind, too. When the little lady goes into a tantrum because you won't go to a bridge party or gets in an angry mood when she doesn't like one of your explanations for being late just get a pitcher of cold water. Then tie a bub on your wife and throw the water in her face. If you try either or both of these scientific suggestions, please report the results as our Horses & Women Department would like to add same to its files under the head of "Wife Training."

QUANT QUERY: A young woman of Brooklyn, advancing no reasons for her quant query, wants to know who originated the lettuce and tomato sandwich. Can't say. I don't even know who originated the wonderful idea of putting sugar on cold sliced tomatoes. All I know is that Michel Felix Corne of Newport, R. I., introduced the tomato to the United States. There is a tablet on the house formerly lived in giving Corne credit for this.

ASIDES: College football players have been carrying 33 pounds of uniform and equipment. Gridiron equipment of the postwar period will weigh only 10 pounds. Eight pounds weight means much to the speed of a horse. It should mean even more to that of a man.

Am asked if Eva Tanguay, the "I don't care girl," was ever in the Ziegfeld Follies. Eva was in the Follies of 1903. Also, in the 1909 Follies were Sophie Tucker, Nora Bayes, Bessie Clayton, Lillian Lorraine and Mae Murray.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS Q. Are you in accord with the suggestion that residents of the United States should refer to themselves as "North Americans" rather than "Americans?"

A. There may be something to what you say. Do you suggest changing that song to "God Bless North America?" Will we have an "I Am a North American Day?"

Q. How about the marriage of a Leo woman and a Pisces man? A. The stargazers do not seem enthusiastic about such a union. They claim the signs are incompatible. A Pisces man wants to dominate the matrimonial situation 100 per cent. A Leo lady prefers the 50-50 idea. If either has an edge in the domination of the little blue heaven, she wants it. Also, a Pisces man likes to stick close to the fire-side. A Leo woman loves her home but wants to step out a couple of times a week.

GET IT RIGHT: "Carrie Jacobs Bond continued to write such songs as 'I Love You Truly' and 'Just A Wearyin' for You.'"

Such is an excerpt from a brief biography of the composer Frank Stanton written by the wife of "Just A Wearyin' for You" and Mrs. Bond wrote the music.

WASHINGTON, July 21—I suppose every man has his own favorite philosopher to whom he turns for help and guidance.

Some resort to Plato, although I will admit not many of these are among my personal acquaintances. In fact, I remember once telling George Goddard, the food expert, that a great many people put their money on Plato and he said:

What kind of a Plato—a selling Plato or a claiming Plato?

However, not all my friends are as crass as Mr. Goddard, although they try hard. A few can read quite fluently. Among them are a number who swear by Aristotle and have the deepest respect for Confucius (Hiya, Mr. Dave Lu!); and the Biblical major and minor prophets.

THEN WE HAVE Mr. Dave Sentner, the distinguished political writer.

His guiding philosopher is Rep. Sol Bloom of New York!

I have this from the most reliable source in the world—Dave's wife. The beautiful Mrs. Mary Sentner says Sol Bloom is changing the writer's whole life.

Mrs. Sentner feels so strongly she has put it in writing. It is so pungently descriptive I am running it unedited. Ladies and gentlemen, Mrs. Mary Sentner:

"The first inkling I had that Dave had changed was when he came home one night bringing a container of honey. Before this he had always thought of honey as something mixed with cream that a woman rubbed on her hands.

"About a week later I noticed his socks were flapping like sails in the wind and when he almost tripped on them I asked how come.

"Nothing restricting," he said enigmatically and I let it go at that.

"After a change from cigars to cigars of Churchillian proportions I demanded the reason.

"He admitted that on Sol Bloom's 75th birthday, he had wangled from the Congressman his health rules and included in these was the aforementioned honey, the absence of garters and cigars.

"The next week while shopping for some shorts for Dave, I found exactly what he had always hankered for in normal times. They were the precise shade he fancied, the perfect size, and the material seemed almost pre-war in quality. I shook my head sadly at the salesman and said, 'I don't think Mr. Bloom would approve!'

"But, madame, you said your husband—"

"No! I said firmly, pushing the shorts away, 'Mr. Bloom says no elastic across the tummy!'

YOU PROBABLY have read many times about those American cargo ships that are named after famous racehorses and wondered how they happened to pick on those particular horses. Well, I am in a position to satisfy your curiosity.

I owe this to Mr. Frank Reil, information director of the American Merchant Marine Institute. Mr. Reil says:

"I think you might be interested in the story of how these ships happened to be named after Kentucky Derby winners.

"In June, 1941, your Uncle Sam suddenly acquired about 70 merchant ships by the simple process of seizing the Italian, German and Danish ships that happened to be tied up idle in American ports. The Neutrality Act prevented these ships from carrying Lend-Lease supplies to England under the American flag and so the ships were placed under the Panama flag.

"There was a great rush to get these ships into service and new names had to be found for them in a jiffy. The ship-naming task was tossed to Lt. Com. W. Creighton Peet, now Pacific Coast Director, War Shipping Administration.

"Out of the blue, Peet got the inspiration to name these ships after famous American racehorses. With the aid of the World Almanac, he went down the list of Kentucky Derby winners, picking out the most suitable names or those that he had some sentimental attachment for by reason of a well-placed bet. When the Kentucky Derby list was exhausted, he turned to the Belmont Futurity, Suburban Handicap, and other important stake races until he had a sufficient number of names."

HOLLYWOOD, July 21—I can see why Van Johnson is so attractive to women.

The other evening Bebe Daniels met him for the first time. He immediately named all the pictures she had appeared in, and it developed he had a great crush on Bebe, which will interest her daughter, Barbara Bebe, who at the moment has a crush on Van.

What I want to say is: MGM is making a whale of a movie with Van as the center figure. It's called "The Common Sin" and there will be 31 other star names. There are five episodes contributed by authors I. A. R. Wylie, James Cain, Charles Jackson, Michael Arlen and Harry Ruskin. Van plays a happy-go-lucky American who, through some queer of circumstances finds himself in jail.

The story purports to show that any of us can land in jail through no fault of our own. Carey Wilson, the producer, says right out loud the MGM plans to make it on the order of "Dinner at Eight" and "Grand Hotel" with all the talent on the lot.

CECIL DE MILLE has been so much in the news apart from his motion picture work that we almost forgot he's a director whose pictures make the box office go clang, clang, clang. Whether the critics hail his movies as artistic masterpieces or not, De Mille knows how to please the public and has known for the past 33 years. So any word about his new stories is news. His latest purchase is "Unconquered," a novel of the American pioneers by Neil Swanson which Doubleday Doran will publish this fall. So far C. B. hasn't got around to selecting a cast, but he'll film his adventure opus in technicolor with much of it shot in Virginia and Pennsylvania.

DON'T ASK ME how I know, but Capt. Ronald Reagan is going to be out of the Army long enough to make a war picture for Warners. The name of the picture, the purpose and everything about it are a dark secret. But I do know Ronnie will be on his home lot out of uniform for a few weeks, or will be in uniform for the movie? It has something to do with postwar plans and has approval of the War Department. Amazing the way Ronnie, who has been out of pictures ever three years since he went into service, keeps his popularity. The fans still write about him.

GARETH HUGHES of "Sentimental Tommy" fame, is now the pastor of an Episcopal church in Wadsworth, Nev., and many of our Hollywood people have been sending him things to help furnish his little church, among them Howard Strickling and Louise Fazenda. Gareth writes to J. E. Bunkay, an old Friends: "I must tell you of the strangest happening. A few weeks ago I came from Austin, Nev., and was standing outside a desert gas station when two women drove up. They were dressed in jodhpurs and looked slightly professional. One of them saluted me and said, 'I know your voice. Let's see—aren't you Gareth?' I answered 'yes.' 'Well, and she, 'don't you know me? I was your leading lady in "The Christian" over 50 years ago.' She was Phyllis Haver. Phyllis was visiting friends and Gareth was on an errand for his church. They met in the middle of the desert.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Now that Luther Adler is in Hollywood and has landed a big role in Dick Powell's "Cordoned" at RKO, there is plenty of tongue-wagging he and Sylvia Sidney will reconcile. I wouldn't be knowing for sure—but that was a terrific romance before and during their marriage—and neither Sylvia nor Adler has been serious with anyone else. Seems hard to believe, in view of his stage reputation, that Adler has never made a movie before. RKO won't tell the nature of the role he is playing—says it will spoil the excitement.

Hollywood's first "travel casualty" is Minna Gombell. The well-known character actress was due in New York within a few days to start rehearsals in the star role in "Mother Helps Out" on Broadway. But not only has it been impossible for Minna to make train or plane reservations, but she has no guarantee that she could get back to California if the show does a quick el fold. So she has decided to unpack and remain in Hollywood after wiring the producers that she must bow out.

I CAN VERY well understand why Warners are building Andrea King. I liked her tremendously in "Hotel Berlin." Now she gets a very nice part as Ida Lupino's sister in "The Man I Love" with Ronald Walsh directing. That title still goes—remember it was originally called "Why Was I Born?"—but Warners own the rights to the other song so that's the name. I suppose it doesn't make much difference. Most of the troubles in the world come from the gents. Are you listening, boys?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Carole Landis is getting very solid with the Las Vegas Army Air Field, entertaining so often; Sally Eilers and June Clyde gave a cocktail party for their husbands, Lt. Howard Barney and Maj. Thornton Freeland, who are here on leave. Sally has a grand stage offer and may take it; Gloria De Haven will be 20 on Monday. Well, Dorothy Manners will be 21 (?) a week from Monday—lots of nice Lees, including Ed Durling; Jeanne Crain, who was very sick with a strep throat, is still too ill to report to the studio; Hear tell from overseas Henry Fonda, who has been away 16 months, is returning the last of August, Frances (Mrs. Keenan) is back from New York and so far there has been no ruling on the Isaac Brokaw will as to whether her daughter Frances gets the late Ann Brokaw's share of an estate or whether Ann's mother, Clara Boothe Luce inherits it. The second boy arrived yesterday at Cobina Wright, Jr., and Palmer Beaulieu. He weighs 35 pounds and according to his proud grandmother, is simply beautiful.

PAT PAT TIERNEY, Gene's sister, is testing at Columbia; Errol Flynn started his movie and his first word was "no"; John Mullan is back in town after seven months overseas for the USO; the John Frederick Bennett and Gene and George Bernard at the opening of Slapsy Maxie's new show created a lot of attention. They turned away over 500 people. But among those who did get in were David Rose and June Night, who seems to be his girl friend these days, and Van Heflin and Frances Neal, who, despite rumors, seem to be getting along very well; Russell Wade has turned talent scout and discovered his next door neighbor, 19-year-old Betty Carville, former Texas model. She was tested, through Russell, at the Goldwyn studio and is now a Goldwyn beauty.

George Holland is on his annual vacation and his Boston After Dark column will be resumed on July 30.

NEW YORK, July 21—The Humphrey Bogart (Lauren "The Look" Bacall) are knitting tiny garments. . . PFC Mickey Rooney will be returned to the U. S. soon and assigned to the Purple Heart Circuit. . . Hal Roach's daughter Margaret will file for divorce against Lt. Edgar Hin-ton in Nevada any day now. . . Inmates expect Joan Fontaine to become a bride again as soon as John Houseman returns from Europe. . . The Phil Spitalny has been divorced in Washington, after a long separation. His next will be Evelyn Klein, better known to followers of the all-girl band as "Evelyn and Her Magic Violin."

Joan Fontaine

LOCAL OPA boards will be 3rd degree concerning an ever-issuance of gas coupons this year. . . Tommy Dorsey and Buddy Rich don't talk on the bandstand or off. . . Bing Crosby is asking a new deal to return to the airwaves in the fall. He wants to control the show as his package—his guest stars, etc. . . Claude Thornhill, the bandleader, is seriously ill with an ear infection in New Zealand. So far, he's been given 125 shots of penicillin. . . Those who've attended previews of Shirley Temple's "Kiss and Tell" can't figure out how it got past the censors.

A NEWS MAGAZINE has sworn its entire staff to secrecy on an alleged "hot tip" in the unsolved Langford murder. Billy Rose's "Paper Moon" will be revived in a forthcoming film, "Too Young to Know" and plugged all over the airwaves by Warners. . . The Russ Morgans are lullabying their fourth baby—a girl. . . The Ringling Brothers circus and Chicago Park authorities are feuding about. If the rift continues the big show may not play the Windy City this year. . . A Penny-Saved-In-A Sawbuck—Spent Department: When the costumes for "Marinka" were to be sent out to be cleaned before the New York opening, the wardrobe mistress suggested a local dry cleaner who does most of the theatrical work in town, but the show's producer, Jules Leventhal, averred that $400 could be saved by taking the dresses to the establishment of a friend of his in the carpet cleaning business. This was ironic. Come the dress rehearsal, and those of the costumes which were not too long were too short, and most of them didn't meet at the back. So a couple of thousand dollars had to be spent in overtime salary for seamstresses to whip the clothes back into wardrobe shape by closing night.

DIM FORET, the Latin-Quarter beauty, is the wife of Jackie Fields, former world's welterweight champion. A new celebrity in the lustro set has such a stark white complexion, she has bitten several steady drinkers to take the pledge after one quick look. Her name is "Fale-lux" Parker. . . A brother act is fading because one member of the combination lost $10,000 at the track last week. . . The Gregory Kelleys (Eugene Leontovich) have agreed on the property settlement and a divorce is imminent.

GREER GARSON is suffering from the same foot ailment that is plaguing Kay Kyser. . . Louis Prima is importing a peppy from the Middle West to rare his mugs on Eastern tracks for the rest of the summer. . . Louis Hayward, the actor, hasn't been able to join the Merchant Marine, as he had wished because of his recurring malaria attacks. . . Tooth Talkington's "Seventeen" may become a Broadway musical. . . A recently married songstress is still loathing for her old fella. Calls him up and weeps like mad. . . New York's cafe owners have resigned themselves to the cold fact that business seems to have turned to its pre-war level and those which hit fabulous $45,000 and $50,000 weekly grosses during the boom nights will have to struggle along on the more normal $30,000 a week.

What Fall Fashions Offer

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

FALL FASHIONS will be full, frontal and feminine. The sweater girl influence in bosom accents of all types returns in all its glory for a more charming girly-girl loveliness in clothes. The sausage silhouette... the straight, up-and-down, slim-as-a-reed silhouette... like the marching column of fighting stalwarts... bows out this season anyway.

Doubtless the country's top-flight designers had the returning warriors in mind when they fashioned their wearable brain-children into Venus-like curving coverage. The boys have had so much regimentation in duties and uniforms... they want it to be a thing of the past when they return to civilian life. And, they want their pinup girls to be just that... as feminine as an orchid... and just as lush. Red will be a dominant shade... exciting, excitable, daring red.

BIG COLLARS FOR SUITS

The boyish figure won't be dramatized but built up to meet the new accents... and the above-the-waistline classicism of Cleopatra curves will be the achieving goal. From New York where the big name designers held showings of their fall collections this week... we gleaned some interesting facts... and the new trends of the new season will be just what the doctor ordered to reinvigorate the home-coming heroes with thoughts of love and romance and happiness.

Bodices will be fuller and skirts will be draped. Necklines will be high. Armholes and shoulders will be all-of-a-piece in some instances... but deep and broad in all cases. In a round-up of the coming features... we list various new fashion details... complemented by the photographs on the page. So in planning your new fall wardrobe.

WATCH FOR the return of big collars for suits... red as a basic color... ditto gray, usually combined with gold... smart combinations of beige and brown... wool cocktail dresses trimmed with lace... lots of striped satins and taffetas for cocktails and evening.

WATCH FOR flaring three-quarter tunic coats over dresses of the same fabric... bracelet sleeves... long, tight sleeves... full embroidered sleeves... shirtwaist sleeves in unexpected and unorthodox use... lots of armhole interest via drapery, tucks and gathers.

SWEATER INFLUENCE

WATCH FOR light wools to wear under fur coats... colors named for furs and jewels... drawing waistlines... sweater girl influences in bosom accents of all types... hand-painted fabrics... leaning toward more skirt... as lavish use of sequins and beading but what there is of it is more exquisite and delicate than ever... strong revival of the bateau neckline... swag draperies on skirts, bodices, tucks and armholes... high and higher necklines... some reaching almost to the chin.

The New York Dress Institute which sponsored this week's showings also informs us that the ballet will reflect a strong influence in skirts... that much of the new season finery will be the result of Egyptian, Greek, American frontier and modern abstract inspirational sources. Even the Russian and Cuban influence have found their way into suits and coats.

TARTAR TUNIC from Eastern Europe inspired the creation of this black wool two-piece dress... a highlight of Anthony Blotto's fall and winter collection. Broad shoulders, deep armholes, oriental side fastening, surprise neckline are smart details.

long, tight and sinuous... with matching gloves are of the jersey, set in like long gloves near the elbow. The vestee front effect is smocked to mould the bosom... for which there is strong and definite accent this fall.

REFLECTING the oriental richness of the new fashions launched by Hattie Carnegie, the minaret jacket of this charming two-piece suit (shown below) is both unusual and flattering. Of Persian blue wool... the suit clings to the body and reaches high around the throat in an interestingly shaped line repeated at the waistline... and at the top of the narrow cuffed sleeves. Note how distinctly full and cut on circular lines the skirt is... the feminine trend to increased softness. Carnegie also designed the purple accessories and gold Oriental head jewelry the model wears.

SMOCKING and bright red mat jersey made this black afternoon dress one of the hits of the Foxbrowne collection and won raves from the fashion press at the New York showings this week. The "fantasy" sleeves...

AS DIVERSION from the elongated pencil-like silhouette... here we see (above right) the new shoulder fullness of the Pauline Triger collection expressed in a black tulle taffeta afternoon dress... with small gathers at the side front and side back giving the skirt a sort of "cubic" fullness. And the same small gathers give interesting and fetching form to the sleeves.

Canning Peaches Is Easy

By MARTHA LEE

WHEN canning peaches, it is always well to keep a few important points in mind to insure successful results. Choose peaches that are ripe, fresh and firm.

For the peeling job, place peaches in a wire basket and dip into boiling water for a minute. Then dip quickly into cold water and the skins will slip off easily. Work with only one canner-load at a time. To prevent darkening after peeling, drop into a solution of 1 gallon of water with 2 tsp. salt and 2 tsp. vinegar, then rinse and drain.

Sugar for canned peaches is easy on ration points because peaches are naturally sweet. For juicy ones, add only 1/2 cup sugar to each quart of uncooked fruit. Then heat to boiling and pack in their own juice.

For less juicy fruit, drop into thin to medium syrup, boiling hot, and just heat through. For moderately thin syrup use 1 cup sugar to 2 cups of either water or peach juice—made by crushing, heating and straining sound peaches too soft for canning.

Corn syrup may be used to replace up to 1-3 of the sugar, and m-h-flavored honey will replace up to 1/2. Peaches may be canned without sugar by cooking in their own juice and adding just enough water to keep from sticking to the pan.

Wash hot peaches evenly into hot clean jars. Place halves in overlapping layers, pitted sides downward. Fill in with 1/2 to a cup of boiling liquid, taking care to cover solid food well and leave 1/2 inch head space. Peaches not covered by liquid may turn dark. Air bubbles also cause the fruit to darken. So work out bubbles by running a knife blade down jar side. Add more liquid if necessary.

Adjust lids. Process 20 minutes in a boiling-water bath. Finish sealing if type of jar requires. Cool jars overnight.

PEACH BUTTER

Sort, wash, peel, and pit the peaches. Cook them in their own juice until soft, stirring constantly. Press through a colander, then through a fine sieve. Use about half as much sugar as sieved fruit, or a little less sugar, depending on sweetness of fruit. Add a scant 1/2 tsp. salt per quart of butter. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. As the butter cooks down, reduce heat. When thick, test by pouring a small quantity on a cold plate. Cook until no rim of liquid separates around the edge of the butter.

Stir in spices, if desired, 1/2 to 1 tsp. per quart butter. Clove, cinnamon, or mixtures of these are good with peach. Whole spices tied in a small cloth bag flavor without darkening the fruit. Pour the boiling hot butter into sterilized jars and seal.

To stretch sugar further, up to 1/2 the weight of the sugar may be replaced with honey or corn syrup. Cook somewhat longer than if sugar were used.

PEACH JAM

3 1/2 cups (12 1/2 lbs.) prepared fruit
2 1/4 cups sugar
2 1/2 cups light corn syrup
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit peel and pit about 1 1/2 pounds fully ripe peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Measure sugar and syrup into bowl, set aside. Measure prepared fruit into a 5 or 6 quart kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Place over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar and syrup. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Make about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

New Ballet Styles

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP) — With their heads full of melon sleeves, ballet britches, almoner belts and medieval influences, some 100 visiting fashion editors today wound up a hectic week of fall style previews, the Fifth National Press Week sponsored by the New York Dress Institute.

Last of the openings was that of Fox Browne, who provided a fitting climax to a crowded, gala week by presenting her "abstract" fashions—suits and dresses inspired by the non-objective paintings of the late modern artist, Piet Mondrian.

Patchwork Jackets in Mardi Gras colors, thin appliqued lines and blocks of color, fabric contrast in cubist style—these were highlights of Browne's showing, which won applause from the assembled press.

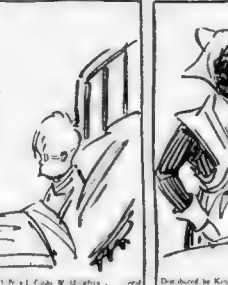

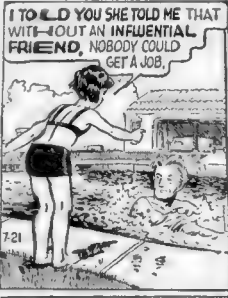

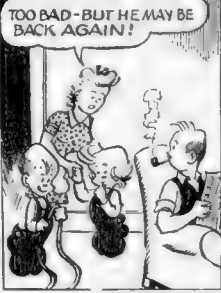

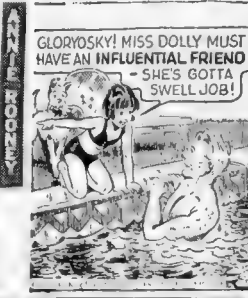

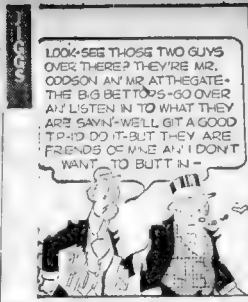

was Claire McCordell's casually startling presentation of "ballet britches," "rehearsal pants," "bloomer girl" styles and "frontier pants."

THE BALLETT BRITCHES are jersey tights worn with a matching wrap, boat-necked sweater and the briefest of yellow wool aprons.

Rehearsal pants are knee-length shorts of awning striped red and white wool jersey worn with a loose smock-coat of red. Red calico bloomers add a final flippant to a costume consisting of calico basque jacket and blouse worn with a flared black wool skirt.

And frontier pants are modeled exactly like those of Buffalo Bill, tapered pants, peg-top pockets and all!

25-Night Raynham Dog Meeting Gets Under Way

By JACK CONWAY

THE GALLOPING greyhounds will open 25 nights of racing at Russ Murray's Raynham Park tonight at a meeting which is expected to furnish good competition and soaring attendance and mutual handle. There are more than 400 dogs ready for the races, and as a result the task of the Racing Secretary in arranging attractive programs will be an easy one.

Russ Murray

I and World War II.

The Disabled Veterans' Fund of the American Red Cross will also share in the charity nights at Raynham. As a wounded veteran of World War I, Murray has been one of the leaders in raising funds for the veterans of this war. Last season the Raynham track contributed $47,000 to the Disabled Veterans' Fund.

Extra nights of racing for charity will enable Raynham to keep up its fine work for war charities. Gov. Tobin and Chairman of the Racing Commission Louis Hoffman and Commrs. Harry Allen and Bayard Tucker, Jr., are anxious that recognized charities benefit from dog racing.

The public has given greater support than ever to dog racing this season. The Taunton and Revere dog tracks have cracked all previous records for attendance and mutual handle. At Revere the nightly handle soars past $500,000.

Revere and Taunton have each pledged part of their receipts from charity nights of racing to the Disabled Veterans' Fund. Joe Lindsey says the extra nights of racing at Taunton will be held at the track following the close of the Raynham meeting. Taunton would like to get at least 10 extra nights of racing. Revere is expected to ask for 20 extra nights of racing, and the meeting will be turned over to the Community Fund, Red Cross, Disabled Veterans' Fund and other leading charities.

With the Japs yet to be beaten and thousands of service men and members of their families in need of every possible assistance, charity nights of racing at dog tracks will accomplish a great deal of good.

There will also be the employment at the tracks for many veterans who have received medical discharges. These men can do the light, outdoor work at dog tracks without injury to their health, while they try to re-establish themselves in civilian life.

I HAVE talked with many of these veterans who are working at Suffolk Downs. Some of them have seen two and three years service overseas, and today carry the scars of battle. I find that the activity and excitement at the track acts as a tonic to the nerves of the war heroes. They are happy to be back home and to be working again.

There will be more need of jobs each day. Unfortunately there are not many war jobs open to veterans who lack some particular skill. Thousands of shipyard workers have already been let go in New England, and the number of open jobs is very limited.

The race tracks can do much to help solve this problem by hiring veterans where possible.

Earl Gibson, in charge of the big mutual plant at Suffolk Downs, tells me he has a large number of veterans in his department, whereas on the guards and attendants at the East Boston track are discharged servicemen.

"The veterans in the mutual plant are doing a top job," said Gibson. "They have more than done their part at Suffolk Downs, has handled an average of more than $1,000,000 a day."

Gibson looks for the handle to top $1,500,000 today with the $10,000 Bevy Rose Stakes for 2-year-olds heading a banner eight-race program.

Incidentally Gibson, a local boy, has proved he can handle a huge mutual plant as well as anyone in the country. There has not been a single delay in posting odds and payoff prices during the meeting, while the accounts have balanced to the last thin dime.

Gibson first became associated with racing when the sport of kings came to New England. He is now a leader in his department of the racing business.

LT. ALEX. MACLEAN, son of the late Alex. MacLean, Boston sports promoter, is flying a Navy plane from Okinawa. He took part in the fighting that enabled the Marines, Army and Navy to capture Okinawa. Lt. MacLean's plane was badly damaged in one engagement, but he was soon back fighting.

LT. MacLean went from Boston College, where he was the sports correspondent for this newspaper, to the Marine Air Corps.

Detroit Officials Make Error

Due to an error in the camera room, officials at the track posted the wrong third horse in the eighth race at Detroit yesterday. Study Period, not Night Steps, was the correct third horse, paying $3.40.

The corrected race follows:
EIGHTH—2 and up, 1 1/4 m.
Telescope (Petersen) 26.00 12.00 6.00
Joe Link (Woodhouse) 12.00 2.10
Study Period (Walton) 3.40
OFF 1:20. Time—1:18 5/8. Also Magnificent, Idle Run, Rockwood Jean, Ask Me, Ethel, Legion, Pat King, Door-Yock, Midnight Bug, Ifield.

TODAY'S ROLL OF HONOR

"...In the exhausted hour of peace whom shall we honor among these? The martyrs bleeding by the wall, the humble, who cry out and fall, and these are all, and these are all."—(Clark Mills.)

The Navy Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 32 Navy and Marine Corps casualties residing in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Maine.

Included are six dead, 23 wounded in action and three missing in action.

The War Department also disclosed the names of 18 casualties of European and Pacific regions residing in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Maine. The list included one soldier reported a prisoner of the Japs.

Notification has been sent to next of kin. Where divergences exist between these lists and information received by next of kin the latest report from the department concerned is authoritative.
